

Animal Kingdom

February 27 - April 10, 2026

From the wild to the domestic, the animal world has long inspired creativity, symbolism, and storytelling. Animal Kingdom invites artists to explore the animals that inspire us, examining our relationships with them as companions, muses, and metaphors. Statement:

I've always had a drive to create and express. Investigation into the unconscious, Magical Realism, and simply creating something beautiful is my main purpose for making art. I have been involved in many forms of art in my lifetime, from playing music to dance and acting. For me, inspiration is solitude and reverie. I often have a hard time falling asleep for the night, so I work on connecting the everyday events I've experienced. Using those, I create "what if" scenarios using elements of the surreal and fantastic. Being an adoptee from a different country, most of my current works involve dual personalities; the person I have become, and the person I could have become if I had remained in Korea. I am also interested in the broader idea of doppelgangers. What emotions we experience if we saw a complete stranger with our face and how would we want to interact with them.
